

Choose one:
(a) water fowl or (b) foul water.

We can't have it both ways. American Rivers, a nonprofit organization dedicated to the protection and restoration of North American rivers, recently designated the Catawba as the most endangered river in the United States. If we want to see water fowl on the river, we need to clean up the foul water. But beyond that, here's something else to think about: The Catawba River is the source of this area's drinking water. So it's not just wildlife that can't live with the Catawba's pollution. Neither can we.
