

*Four years, $1 million and 15 homes for 15 families.
"Thanks-a-Million" to all who made this partnership possible.*

(Photo by James Nedresky)

The ELF Coalition's 2009 house was built with support from Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

ELF Coalition

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Augustana Lutheran Bethany Lutheran, Elkhorn Elkhorn Hills Lutheran Church of the Master Lord of Love Lutheran Kings of Kings Lutheran Church | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Northwest Hills United Church of Christ Saint Augustine of Canterbury Episcopal Church Saint Andrews Methodist Church Saint Luke United Methodist Church Underwood Hills Presbyterian Church. Faith Christian Church |
|--|---|

(Photo by James Nedresky)

Madagascar

As of October 2008, Habitat Madagascar had helped build 47 houses on this hillside(above). Future Habitat Madagascar homeowners in their current home. The family of five shares one bedroom and two beds (right).

In Madagascar it costs $1,950 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Madagascar.

(Photos by Steffan Hacker/HFHI)

The Faithful Builders Coalition's 2009 house was built with support from Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

Faithful Builder's Coalition

Saint Leo Catholic
Saint James Catholic
Saint Elizabeth Ann Catholic
Saint Wenceslaus Catholic
Saint Paul's Lutheran, Millard

Saint Michael Lutheran
Holy Cross Lutheran
Luther Memorial Lutheran
Rejoice! Lutheran
Westwood Community

The Neighbors South Coalition's 2009 house was built with support from Thrivent Financial for Lutherans.

Neighbors South Coalition

Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church
Central Presbyterian Church
Divine Shepherd Lutheran Church
First Central Congregational Church
First Presbyterian Church
Grace Lutheran Church

Hanscom Park United Methodist Church
Holy Cross Catholic Church
Mosher-Pilgrim Presbyterian
Pacific Hills Lutheran Church
Pella Lutheran Church
Presbyterian Church of the Cross

Through the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and Habitat for Humanity of Omaha partnership,

15 families have achieved their dreams of homeownership.

“Thanks a Million” to the volunteers, donors, supporters and families who made this possible.

Through the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and Habitat for Humanity of Omaha partnership,

7,027
individuals have volunteered their time and talents.

“Thanks a Million” to the volunteers, donors, supporters and families who made this possible.

Through the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and Habitat for Humanity of Omaha partnership,

volunteers
have contributed a total of 40,155
hours.

“Thanks a Million” to the volunteers, donors, supporters and families who made this possible.

Through the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and Habitat for Humanity of Omaha partnership,

$1,388,975
have been contributed by local congregations,
Thrivent Chapters
and Thrivent Builds funding.

“Thanks a Million” to the volunteers, donors, supporters and families who made this possible.

Through the Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and Habitat for Humanity of Omaha partnership,

Thrivent Builds has tithed
$138,898
to continue the mission
world-wide.

“Thanks a Million” to the volunteers, donors, supporters and families who made this possible.

Kenya

Habitat Kenya homeowners in front of their new home. The family was able to complete construction on their home after receiving a series of small loans from Habitat Kenya's microfinance program (above). A future Habitat Kenya homeowner and her daughter stand next to the makeshift tent they currently occupy, situated next to the construction site of their future Habitat house. The family has been living in a tent since their home in Narok, Kenya, was destroyed during the periods of violence in December 2007 and January 2008 that followed a disputed national election. The family was among the thousands forced to flee their homes areas as a result of the conflict. Now, they are part of a self-help group of internally displaced people (IDP) that collectively purchased land in the area in which they now live. The group is partnering with Habitat Kenya to build houses on the land (right).

In Kenya it costs $2,850 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Kenya .

Guatemala

Habitat Guatemala homeowner Regina stands with her son Rudy in front of their Habitat house (above). The first Habitat house built in Guatemala; the family has since prospered and newer houses like this one have been built around it (right).

In Guatemala it costs $4,020 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Guatemala.

(Photos by Steffan Hacker/HFHI)

Egypt

A row of Habitat Egypt houses (above). A Habitat Egypt homeowner family (right).

In Egypt it costs $1,040 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Egypt.

Mexico

A Habitat Mexico houses in Las Margaritas (above). A Habitat Mexico homeowner family in their new home (right).

In Mexico it costs $5,930 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Mexico.

(Photos by Kim MacDonald/HFHI)

Thailand

In southern Thailand many families lost their homes to the tsunami of 2005 that took thousands of lives. First stage temporary tent housing areas were set up to provide shelter to those in need. This one is in the Bang Muang area of Thailand (above). A Habitat Thailand homeowner's daughter in front of her new Habitat house (right).

In Thailand it costs $5,100 for Habitat for Humanity to build a new house for a family in need. Through the Thrivent Financial & Habitat Omaha partnership $138,898 have been tithed to Habitat affiliates around the world, including Habitat Thailand.

(Photos by Kim MacDonald/HFHI)

Habitat for Humanity of Omaha would like to thank Thrivent Financial for Lutherans and all those who made this million dollar partnership possible.

(Photo by James Nedresky)

